An "Arts" Party.

Here is the way a little girl gave an "arts" party the other day. She had the following articles either pasted or tied on squares of cardboard, and these were hanging on the wall. Each guest received a pencil and paper and was asked to write a name for each cardboard that would sound like the name of a real painting. Here are some of the articles and some of the names: A study in hearts, two valentines. Study of a head, cabbage. The pale face at home, powder puff. Scenes in China, painted cup. Teardrops, onion. The light of other days, burnt candle. A study in red, red flannel. The Irish village, a cork. Justice, scales. Fetters of wealth, two gold rings. A friend in need, a hairpin.

Names of Fishes.

To find fault. Used in warfare. In winter sports. Commands his boat. Polishes silver. To plunge and struggle. A little bit. Part of the foot. Used in ancient warfare. A good one is always in demand. Short and fat. Lost from her finger. A hen's bed. A puff. A barrier and a fair lady. A color and end of a whip. The tip and a tie. What is done to iron ore. Answers—Carp, torpedo, skate, skipper, whiting, flounder, dab, sole, pike, plaice, chub, herring, perch, whiff, barbel (bar, belle), red snapper, topknot, smelt.

Ring Riddles.

Get out your puzzle guessers and see if you can tell—
What has four legs, yet cannot walk.
One foot besides a head?
If I should finish out this time
I'd say it was a —

What grows in the ground
And have many eyes.
Yet nary a bit can they see?
We have them for dinner
Most every night. Now,
What in the world can they be?

And what has two hands
And a jolly round face?
What tells us when we
Shall go every place?
What runs all the time
And yet runs standing still
And works for us all with
A jolly good will?

Answers.—Bed, potatoes, clock.

Candied Rose Petals.

To make candied rose petals, put a cupful of granulated sugar into a saucepan and stir in slowly a third of a cupful of cold water. Set this on the stove, letting the mixture heat slowly, gradually coming to a boil. Do not let it boil hard. Try it frequently and when the sirup crackles or hardens in cold water remove from the fire. Stir gradually till it begins to sugar, then place in a pan of hot water and using a pair of tiny pincers, dip the petals into the sugar and let them dry on waxed paper. Before they are dry dip them into a saucer of powdered sugar, again put on a platter or tray and place where they will keep dry for a day.

Fruit Jellies.

A housewife who has made careful records of the amount of fruit she has used for preserving or jelly making, keeping at the same time a record of the amount after the canning cooking process, says:
Seven pounds of peaches will make fifteen glasses of marmalade.
Four quarts of quinces will make ten glasses of jelly.
Four quarts of crabapples will make ten glasses of jelly.
Six pounds of peaches will make eight pints of preserved peaches.
